Welcome to Real Group

I first met Real Group’s co-founder Alan Macgregor in 1994 when we were both working as Educational Psychologists in Kent. We both shared a passion for working with children, particularly those most in need of support, to improve their outcomes and aspirations, both in a school setting and for life more broadly.

However, whilst working one-to-one or in groups with students is incredibly rewarding and impactful, we realised that we could only work with a limited number of students, and there were many, many more who needed and deserved expert support within schools. And it was this combination of passion to transform lives, along with the frustrations of how widely we - and other dedicated Educational Psychologists across the country and beyond could make an impact - which led us to create Real Group. Shortly after launching Real Group, Alan and I were joined by Siobhan Mellor, who soon after becoming part of the team also become a fellow director. Siobhan is also a greatly experienced educational psychologist who shares our passion, drive and determination to ensure students achieve their best, and teachers are fully trained, supported and able to approach any challenge with the utmost confidence.

Using leading-edge, bespoke online learning tools, we created masters-level training courses for teachers in assessment, SEND coordination and more, to empower educators to work alongside colleagues and educational psychologists to support students regardless of their circumstances and challenges.

As we have grown, we’ve not only created and delivered many more courses and programmes across the full spectrum of SEND and inclusive leadership, but we have also acquired Dyslexia Action Training, Shop and Guild, allowing us to support even more education professionals across the widest possible spectrum.

With three UK offices, participants in 73 countries and training more than 2,000 educators every year, I’m proud of the support Real Group has been able to offer education professionals and their students in reaching their greatest potential.

Dr Mark Turner, MANAGING DIRECTOR, REAL GROUP

Meet our directors

Dr. Mark Turner

Mark launched Real Group with co-founder Alan Macgregor in 2004. Mark remains Real Group’s professional and academic lead and managing director. Real Group is the third successful enterprise in the education sector that Mark has founded. Mark creates highly effective teams which embrace innovation and focus on achieving successful outcomes. Already a vastly experienced Educational Psychologist, Mark completed his doctorate investigating online learning in 2010. He publishes, speaks at conferences, and is currently a parent governor of an inner London secondary school.

Siobhan Mellor

Siobhan has established and led teams of professional tutors and expert witnesses across Real Group. She excels in developing effective operational systems and teams and takes the lead role in managing the team and collating, interpreting and reporting quality-assurance data for the directors and Middlesex University. As an experienced EP, she has worked with children and young people in mainstream schools for almost two decades. Siobhan is currently studying for her doctorate. She believes in helping educators to meet the needs of children with SEND.

“Real Group is the only provider I would go to - they are professional, efficient and effective.”

Working with the best partners to improve outcomes

You can tell a lot about an organisation by the company that it keeps. We are proud to associate ourselves with the following organisations because, as key partners, they are as dedicated to education as we are.

Middlesex University

With 35,000 students on courses in London, Dubai and Mauritius and with partners across the world, Middlesex has a reputation for delivering the highest quality teaching and research. Its practical and innovative approach to working with businesses to develop staff potential and provide solutions to business issues makes a real difference to people’s lives. The wide-ranging expertise ranges across engineering, information, health and social sciences, business, arts and education.

The British Psychological Society Testing Centre

The British Psychological Society (BPS) is the leading national organisation for setting standards in psychological testing. It directs the work of the Psychological Testing Centre through its Committee on Test Standards, whose role is to set, promote and maintain standards in testing.

Swiss Cottage School

Swiss Cottage is an outstanding school in the London Borough of Camden which teaches children with complex learning difficulties, emotional, behavioural and communication difficulties and those with Autism Spectrum Conditions (ASC). Real Group is proud to have worked with Swiss Cottage on a wide variety of projects, and to work alongside - and be inspired by - such a group of dedicated expert education professionals.

NASENCO Provider Partnership Group

Real Training is a member of the NASENCO Provider Partnership, which is a collaborative network of NASENCO training providers that, once central funding for the National Award ceased (2014), wished to preserve the high standard and quality of NASENCO training within the open marketplace. Partnership members agree to follow a peer-assessed Quality Standards Framework in order to maintain membership. The group also continues to hold strong links to the DfE, who participate in bi-annual meetings, with a recent AfA report describing the work of the group as ‘innovative, dynamic and supportive’ (2017, pg22).

UK-based tutors

We work with a wide range of highly-qualified and experienced tutors for all our Real Training and Dyslexia Action courses and qualifications. Many of the tutors are educational psychologists, specialist teachers or serving leaders in schools, so they really are perfectly placed to assist and encourage you to achieve your goals while studying with us. It’s their job to support you throughout your learning journey, answering any queries you may have regarding the course and supporting you with your assignments.

"Working alongside highly qualified and experienced professional staff at Real Group has been extremely beneficial to the team at Middlesex University. We are much richer for our partnership with Real Group."

DR DEBORAH JACK, HEAD OF EDUCATION, MIDDLESEX UNIVERSITY

Our international partners

Supporting international schools on the road to whole-school inclusion

Our flexible online courses are not only suitable for educators working in the UK, they can also bring huge benefits to schools and children in the rest of the world. By working with international membership organisations, we are able to extend our reach to support these international schools.

 ISC Research

ISC Research works with over 10,000 international schools worldwide to gain valuable market insight regarding the international education sector. We have been working with ISC Research since 2017, using this valuable insight to ensure our courses and qualifications fit the needs of all international schools as well as building relationships with key contacts in these regions.

British Educational Supplier Association (BESA)

BESA, the British Educational Suppliers Association, is the trade association covering the entirety of the UK educational suppliers sector. It has an 85-year heritage serving the UK education sector and represents over 300 educational suppliers in the UK. Real Training joined BESA in 2018 and has worked with them at UK and international education shows.

Council of British International Schools (COBIS)

COBIS is a membership association of over 500 British International Schools of global quality and corporate Supporting Members. Real Training joined COBIS as a Supporting Member in 2017 in order to work closely with British International Schools across the globe, both by delivering courses and also gaining invaluable international insight to help us create new programmes to improve outcomes for all.

Federation of British International Schools in Asia (FOBISIA)

Founded in 1988, FOBISIA is a not-for-profit membership organisation based in Singapore. FOBISIA promotes excellence in British-international education in Asia and coordinates with its Member Schools to deliver student enrichment and continuing professional development for Heads, Senior Leaders, and teaching and business staff. Real Training joined FOBISIA in January 2019 to help provide greater support to schools in Asia.

British Schools in the Middle East (BSME)

Established for 37 years, BSME is the largest dedicated network of British International Schools in the Middle East. It supports over 125 high-quality schools through a range of services and events including their coveted annual conference. Real Training is delighted to have become an Associate Member of BSME in 2019 and looks forward to many years working closely with BSME and their network of schools and other education suppliers.

Worldwide Support

Internationally experienced tutors

Our courses and qualifications are available to complete online so where you and your tutor are based is not of great significance - we welcome delegates and tutors from all over the world. What is important, however, is your tutor’s experience and support - our tutors are carefully selected to always have a high level of specialist knowledge and experience in the subject area you are studying. Depending on the qualification you are looking to achieve; we understand that it can also sometimes be beneficial to work with a tutor who has experience or at least an understanding of the education system you’re currently work in, or maybe international education systems in general. Rest assured that we employ tutors, both in the UK and overseas, with international knowledge and experience and we will always endeavour to match you with the tutor who can give you the best support, advice and knowledge to help you achieve your learning goals and make the journey as enjoyable and stress-free as possible.
Why study with us?

We’re a leading provider of training in educational testing and professional assessment. Established in 2004, we have a successful track record of delivering high-quality face-to-face and online training programmes to schools, colleges and universities, children’s services, government, charities and the private sector.

Led by top educational psychologists

Our courses are developed by leading practising psychologists with real expertise. As a leader provider, we deliver the best thinking, teaching and practice using the latest online learning technologies.

Building your confidence and skills

Each module will help you to develop the key confidence and core skills to meet the needs of the most vulnerable learners. This will provide real benefits to your school or setting, benefits that are designed with Ofsted in mind.

- Improve outcomes for vulnerable learners.
- Identify children’s needs early.
- Understand a range of interventions and their effectiveness.
- Raise awareness among your colleagues.
- Explain the importance of particular approaches and interventions.
- Recognise when to call in specialist expertise.

Giving you more than distance learning

We offer more than just distance learning. Campus Online™ – our very own virtual learning environment – features learning experiences and activities that will give you the practical edge in your setting at the click of a mouse. Discuss and create forums with fellow students, and message your tutor, at a moment’s notice. Take a rewarding and collaborative course, taken at your own pace, in a setting and time which suits your professional and personal life.

Our practice-led distance learning modules are structured around carefully designed learning experiences that engage directly with your own professional context. Supporting theory, reflection and example activities will help you explore different aspects of your own and others’ practice. The range of activities include: video and multimedia content, case-study and problem-based scenarios, directed reading, structured learning logs, online discussion, online questionnaires, peer evaluation and webinars.

Qualifications with credibility

Study with us and you will discover highly respected courses validated by Middlesex University and recognised by other organisations including the DfE, the British Psychological Society and the British Accreditation Council.

Information for international delegates

Borders are no barrier to studying with Real Training

Our mantra of supporting educators to improve the outcomes for ALL is meaningless if restricted to just one country. Inclusion is the heartbeat of our organisation - and inclusion cannot be limited by borders just as it cannot be limited by background, circumstance or challenge. We take the gold standard of British Educational Excellence and share it with educators the world over. Thanks to our advanced virtual learning environment (VLE) and asynchronous one-to-one tutoring, delegates can feel included and in-touch, whether they are sat in a classroom in Guildford, a bedroom in Guernsey or a café in Guatemala. Our VLE was created bespoke, based on the expertise of our directors using their insights of how people learn - and interact - best, wherever they are in the world.

Internationally-led courses

We do not simply offer our UK-based courses en masse to the rest of the world - we listen to the needs of the people we are speaking to all over the world and reflect this in our course development. The most notable example of this is the creation of the International Award in SEN Coordination (iSENCO). Based on our experience of delivering our world-leading UK NASENCO qualification (page 20-21) to thousands of delegates, we wanted to remove the biggest barrier to overseas delegates from benefiting from this learning - the rule that only delegates with UK QTS can join the programme. By creating a bespoke international course, we have allowed teachers from across the globe to benefit from one of the UK’s great success stories in creating an inclusive and supportive educational framework for students with special educational needs and disabilities. Furthermore, this iSENCO course (page 22-23) is not simply the UK National Award renamed. Working with expert consultants - and consulting with international schools - we have created new learning strands and focal areas including the local legislative environment, the implications of SEN for third-culture children and more. This course is, from start to finish, informed by what educators across the world have told us they need in order to work with students with confidence.

In addition, we actively and successfully lobbied the DfE to permit overseas-based delegates to undertake - and receive full recognition for - the new regime of NPQ courses (pages 46-51). Real Training have been active in both creating and driving markets to deliver excellence across the globe. Real Training is the only fully online NPQ provider in the UK, and we are perfectly placed to deliver outstanding leadership training to educators near and far.

Eligibility and qualifications for international students

To complete many of our level 7 courses, you will need to hold an undergraduate degree. Check on the eligibility section of each course page for details. If your degree was accredited in a country outside of the UK, we may ask you to run your qualifications through UK NARIC prior to booking. This will confirm whether your qualifications are at an equivalent level to the requirements for the course. Please refer to naric.org.uk prior to booking.

“...to do from Dubai but it has been so accessible. I have learnt so much and feel like I have laid a solid foundation for what I hope to be a long career in SEND. Thank you Real Training.”

Rachael Ward-Kinloch in Dubai, NASENCO delegate 2016

See pages 10 and 11 for details about our international partners

Bespoke options

As our courses are delivered online, they can be completed flexibly from anywhere in the world. However, if you prefer a more traditional face-to-face approach, we often arrange Certificate of Competence in Educational Testing (CCET) courses outside of the UK - contact us or look online for details of our planned international courses. We are more than happy to come to you - if you have several colleagues wishing to complete the same course, we can deliver it at your setting, tailoring it to you needs to make it an even more cost-effective and time-saving solution. It is also a fantastic opportunity for colleagues located in different schools across different areas to meet together to share ideas, experiences and support each other on their learning journey.

The SEND Programme

Masters-level, practice-led learning modules in Special Educational Needs and Disabilities (SEND) to expand your expertise and specialist skills.

Gain confidence and skills
Comprising an unrivalled range of practice-led distance learning modules, the SEND Programme has been developed to give you the confidence and core skills to meet the needs of the most vulnerable learners and provide benefit to your school or setting that translates into evidence of effectiveness for Ofsted. At Real Training, we believe that these benefits should go hand in hand.

A unique way to learn
The modules are based on Real Training’s Practice-Led Learning Cycle. Each module consists of a number of practical activities that take place in your setting, supported by theory and case studies. These activities not only allow you to learn from your practice, but encourage you to feed your learning back into your practice – as you develop your setting develops with you.

The practical activities are designed to ensure you gain the essential skills Ofsted inspectors are looking for.

Qualifications with credibility
On the SEND Programme, you can be sure you’ll receive first class instruction and support. The programme is quality assured by Middlesex University, and you will receive a Middlesex award upon successful completion. All modules have been developed in conjunction with leading SEND experts, educational psychologists and partners such as Brian Lamb, OBE and the Swiss Cottage School Development and Research Centre. Module leaders are all acknowledged experts in their field and course tutors are experienced SEND professionals.

“"If you want a programme that is modular with support at every step of the way then this is for you.””
Nicola Trolley, MEd SEND graduate 2017

94% of all SEND Programme delegates in 2018 rated the success of the course in meeting their needs as good or very good.

Masters-level, practice-led learning modules in Special Educational Needs and Disabilities (SEND) to expand your expertise and specialist skills.
Create your ideal package

The range of modules gives you maximum flexibility to develop your expertise in crucial areas of need and address broader themes across the curriculum. The 30- and 60-credit modules can be studied individually or in combination to suit your professional development. You can exit with either a Postgraduate Certificate (PGCert), Postgraduate Diploma (PGDip) or work towards a Master of Education (MEd). Start with a PGCert and build as you go or plan your whole PGDip or MEd upfront.

Accreditation for Prior Learning (APL)

Real Training is delighted to welcome delegates to the programme who have already gained relevant credits at Masters level (level 7 credits) on another course. A maximum of two-thirds of the credits for any final exit award can be obtained through APL. Therefore, delegates will need to consider their intended exit point from the SEND programme. The credits will need to be level 7, achieved in the last five years and the learning outcomes should match those of our own SEND Programme modules.

Finding suitable modules

Choose from any of our 30-credit Skills and Knowledge (S&K) modules on pages 24-30.

Complete the Evidence and Pedagogy for Inclusion (EPI) module in your chosen specialist subject (page 31).

Complete either NASENCO (pages 20-21) or ISENCO (pages 22-23) to gain an accredited SENCO qualification.

Complete the Enquiry-based SEND Practice module to complete your masters qualification (pages 32-33).

Looking for a Masters in Dyslexia?

Although you can combine our specialist Dyslexia modules to achieve the MEd in SEND, if you have a particular interest or focus on dyslexia and literacy, then you can also take our MEd Professional Practice in Dyslexia and Literacy in conjunction with Dyslexia Action. See pages 66-67 for more details and look out for the Dyslexia Programme logo on the relevant module pages.

The SEND Programme

Completion of this module leads to the Postgraduate Certificate SEND: National Award for SEN Coordination

The national standard for SENCOs

Since its introduction in 2009, the National Award for SEN Coordination has been the highly regarded training route achieving consistent, rigorous and effective outcomes for SENCOs in schools. Mandatory for new-to-role SENCOs in England, the award is often mentioned as a requirement in job adverts by headteachers and governors keen to ensure their new SENCO knows the latest research, policy and guidance and has first-rate skills in applied SEND practice. As a result, aspiring SENCOs now see the Award as an essential step in their career development and experienced SENCOs, including those in the private sector, are keen to acquire the Award as evidence of their SEND skills, competences and leadership abilities. This practice-led National Award of SEN Coordination module is designed to give you an understanding of the skills that can be used to make a positive difference for learners with SEND, and the opportunity to practise those skills in your workplace. You’ll gain knowledge of relevant theory, research and policy and the ability to critique knowledge and existing practice.

Course content

The essential knowledge and practical skills that make up the revised September 2014 NCTL learning outcomes are covered over 4 strands:

Strand 1: The context for inclusive education

Strand 2: Developing strategy and policies for inclusive education

Strand 3: Development, planning and application of inclusive practice

Strand 4: Collaboration and leadership

Flexible assessment

Assessment includes a number of different methods of continuous assessment covering all competencies. In addition, formative feedback is an integral part of the process, ensuring understanding of principles and their application, providing ongoing opportunities for personal and professional development. Assessment methods include:

- Reflective learning logs documenting the development of the reflective SEND practitioner
- Applied practice tasks evidencing implementation of learning in the setting
- Four written assignments (approx 3,600-4,000 words each)
- Self-assessment questionnaires as you start and progress through the course to document the development of your confidence, skills and knowledge.

Study method: Online

Duration: Up to 1 year

Enrolment dates: September, January and May

Masters credits

- 60
- 10% DA shop discount

Professional benefits

- Develop your confidence to support the most vulnerable and complex children in your school.
- Gain a nationally recognised and highly valued qualification.
- Embrace flexible distance learning – less time out of school.
- Apply practice-led learning as you work.
- Learn with experienced SEND professionals and EPs.
- Access a wealth of online resources and academic research.

School benefits

- ‘Aspiring SENCOs’ can undertake the NASENCO module with the support of the Head Teacher and existing SENCO.
- A stable, skilled and confident workforce.

Eligibility

To complete this module, you will need to:

- Have completed an undergraduate degree.
- Hold QTS or QTLS.
- Be working in or have access to a UK or international education setting - you will embed learning through practice in such a setting.
- Have support from your setting as the named SENCO or as an aspiring SENCO.

Module leader:

Siobhan Mellor

Siobhan Mellor is a director of Real Group, MEd SEND programme leader and an experienced and respected senior educational psychologist. She has worked with SENCOs and teachers to support whole-school systems and interventions for pupils with SEND.
International Award in SEN Coordination (iSENCO)

Completion of this module leads to the Postgraduate Certificate SEND: International Award in SEN Coordination

A unique qualification
It is widely acknowledged that the National Award for SEN Coordination (NASENCO) has made a huge positive impact on the standards of leadership in SEN education in the UK. However, to complete the UK NASENCO qualification you need to have Qualified Teacher Status (QTS) or Qualified Teacher Learning and Skills (QTLS) status. Many SENCOs and aspiring SENCOs working abroad may not hold this and therefore are unable to complete the course, even though they would like to. The new International Award in SEN Coordination (iSENCO) is suitable for education professionals all over the world, regardless of their UK QTS status. However, iSENCO is not just the UK Award with a different name. We’ve consulted with international schools and experts at length to tailor a course specific to international needs, encompassing localised legislative frameworks, the impact on learning of third culture kids, the intersection of academic vs social language in EAL students and much more. This course has been created in partnership with international schools and is led by educators in the field.

The iSENCO qualification offers a unique opportunity for SENCOs and aspiring SENCOs all over the world to learn new skills and build confidence in supporting SEN children in an international environment. iSENCO is suitable for educators working in range of settings, so whether you are a SENCO based in an international school in Dubai or an aspiring SENCO working with international children in a college in Derby, this course will provide you with the knowledge and skill set required to excel and provide effective support in your setting.

iSENCO ensures that international SENCOs are given the opportunity to gain key skills and knowledge not only relevant to their job role but also relevant to their setting. If they also happen to hold UK Qualified Teacher Status, it is possible to complete an additional UK-focused module so that they can gain the full NASENCO qualification, should they decide to return to the UK in the future and wish to work as a SENCO in a mainstream school in England.

Course content
The course is divided into four strands:
Strand 1: The context for inclusive education within international settings
Strand 2: Developing strategy and policies for inclusive education within international settings.
Strand 3: The development, planning and application of inclusive practice in international settings.
Strand 4: Collaboration and leadership in international settings.

Flexible assessment
Assessment includes a number of different methods of continuous assessment covering all competencies. In addition, formative feedback is an integral part of the process, ensuring understanding of principles and their application, providing ongoing opportunities for personal and professional development.

- Four written assignments (approx 3,000-4,000 words each).
- Self-assessment questionnaires as you start and progress through the course to document the development of your confidence, skills and knowledge.

Professional benefits
- Develop effective leadership and management skills for SEND coordination within an international school setting.
- Develop an understanding of how wider cultural, political, historical and community contexts influence SEND provision internationally.
- Engage with international research and evidence based practice regarding inclusive education.
- Embrace flexible distance learning – less time out of school.
- Apply practice-led learning as you work.
- Learn with experienced SEND professionals and EPs.
- Access a wealth of online resources and academic research.

School benefits
- Improved SEND strategy, policies and procedures for inclusive education.
- Effective support for the most vulnerable and complex children in the school.
- Effective strategies to differentiate between and support pupils who have English as an additional language and/or special educational needs.
- ‘Aspiring SENCOs’ can undertake the NASENCO module with the support of the Head Teacher and existing SENCO.
- A stable, skilled and confident workforce.

Eligibility
To complete this module, you will need to:
- Have completed an undergraduate degree.
- Be working in an international education setting, defined as a school that promotes international educational environment, either by adopting a curriculum such as that of the International Baccalaureate, or by following a national curriculum different from that of the school’s country of residence.
- Have support from your setting as the named SENCO or as an aspiring SENCO.

Siobhan Mellor is a director of Real Group, MEd SEND programme leader and an experienced and respected senior educational psychologist. She has worked with SENCOs and teachers to support whole-school systems and interventions for pupils with SEND.

Psychology for Education

Completion of this module, along with the Evidence and Pedagogy for Inclusion module, leads to the Postgraduate Certificate SEND: Psychology for Education

A unique opportunity
This new module has been developed to provide an insight into the world of educational psychology. Understanding how theories of psychology and individual needs are linked is fundamental to adapting pedagogy to support and improve outcomes for all students.

Course content
With this module, you will gain an understanding of psychological theories which can be applied in the educational setting, for example Cognitive Psychology, Positive Psychology and Personal Construct Psychology. You will learn key skills to help you identify meaningful patterns in behaviour and evaluate their significance.

Flexible assessment
On completion of the learning experiences, you’ll submit two critical/practical analysis assignments (1,500 words or equivalent each) and one reflective analysis (3,000 words).

School benefits
- Gain the knowledge to manage difficult situations.
- Bring expertise in-school and save money.
- Practice-focused - learn as you work.
- Access a wealth of practical resources, academic research and interactive materials.
- Improved understanding and support for the most vulnerable children in your school.

Eligibility
- Gain knowledge of the inherent variability and diversity of psychological functioning and its significance in the classroom.
- Understand the individual differences of learners within a learning environment and how to adapt pedagogy to support these.
- Explore and examine how positive psychology can impact on educational settings.
- Understand the mediating impact of the teacher in implementing metacognitive strategies with learners.
- Reflect and critically evaluate personal strengths and weaknesses for the purpose of future learning.

Cognition and Learning

Completion of this module, along with the Evidence and Pedagogy for Inclusion module, leads to the Postgraduate Certificate SEND: Cognition and Learning

Understanding the difficulties
This new module allows you to explore the interplay between cognitive functioning and development, the learning environment and the socio-cultural context for learning. It addresses theories related to intellectual development including reference to historical and political contexts.

Course content
This module will allow you to develop an in-depth understanding of what cognition and learning are through relevant models, frameworks and theories. You will then be able to use this knowledge to develop your skills and confidence in critically evaluating interventions used in educational settings.

Flexible assessment
- Interventions evaluated to ensure they provide effective support to help manage SEN across the school.
- Confidently provide advice to parents, colleagues, managers.
- Have the knowledge to manage difficult situations. Access a wealth of practical resources, academic research and interactive materials to support you.

Eligibility
To complete this module, you will need to:
- Have completed an undergraduate degree.
- Be working in or have access to a UK or international education setting - you will embed learning through practice in such a setting.

Social, Emotional and Mental Health Needs

Completion of this module, along with the Evidence and Pedagogy for Inclusion module, leads to the Postgraduate Certificate SEND: Social, Emotional and Mental Health Needs

Meeting a growing challenge

Pupils experiencing social, emotional and mental health (SEMH) difficulties represent a large and growing area of need across the age range in both mainstream and specialist school settings. This module enables you to develop your understanding of SEMH and bring your practice right up-to-date with current thinking.

Course content

This module is designed to give you an understanding of the skills that can be used to make a positive difference, and the opportunity to practice them. You will gain foundational knowledge of relevant theory, research and policy and the ability to critique knowledge and existing practice.

Flexible assessment

On completion of the learning experiences, you will submit two critical analysis assignments (3,000 words or equivalent each).

Professional benefits

- Bring your practice up to date with the latest thinking and emerging trends in working with children with SEMH.
- Understand specific difficulties such as self harm, anxiety, depression, and eating disorders.
- Learn about the relationship of SEMH to mental health theories around risk and resilience.
- Gain confidence and expertise in evaluating your own work context in relation to local and national provision and legal frameworks.
- Critically analyse management approaches, and tools for assessment and identification.

School benefits

- Bring expertise in-school and save money.
- Develop practical skills, tutored by professional experts.
- Access a wealth of practical resources, academic research and interactive materials to support you.
- Develop your confidence to support the most vulnerable and complex children in your school effectively.

Eligibility

To complete this module, you will need to:
- Have completed an undergraduate degree.
- Be working in or have access to a UK or international education setting - you will embed learning through practice in such a setting.

Speech, Language and Communication Needs

Completion of this module, along with the Evidence and Pedagogy for Inclusion module, leads to the Postgraduate Certificate SEND: Speech, Language and Communication Needs

Meeting the growing challenge

The Bercow Report of 2008 highlighted that around 40,000 children in the UK – approximately 1 in 14 five-year-olds – start school with serious speech, language and communication needs (SLCN). The report stressed the importance of early identification of need as well as improved planning, support and cooperation between professionals. Against the backdrop of the Bercow recommendations, this module was originally developed with The Communication Trust with the explicit aim of enabling you to develop your professional understanding of SLCN and incorporate the latest thinking into your practice.

Course content

This module is designed to give you an understanding of the skills that can be used to make a positive difference. You will gain foundational knowledge of relevant theory, research and policy and the ability to critique existing practice.

Flexible assessment

On completion of the learning experiences, you will submit two critical analysis assignments and a further analytical assignment (a total of 6,000 words or equivalent across the three assignments).

Eligibility

To complete this module, you will need to:
- Have completed an undergraduate degree.
- Be working in or have access to a UK or international education setting - you will embed learning through practice in such a setting.

Severe, Profound and Complex Learning Difficulties and Disabilities

Completion of this module, along with the Evidence and Pedagogy for Inclusion module, leads to the Postgraduate Certificate SEND: Severe, Profound and Complex Learning Difficulties and Disabilities

Fulfilling the ambition

With around a quarter of learners with Severe Learning Difficulties (SLD) or Profound and Multiple Learning Difficulties (PMLD) currently being taught in mainstream settings, the Salt Review of 2010 envisaged a future in which teaching SLD/PMLD is developed as an area of special expertise, ‘with higher status and value’. This module is designed to give you the specialist knowledge and practice-based understanding to fulfill the ambition of the Salt Review.

Course content

With the emphasis on applied learning, you will gain a technical understanding of the needs of learners with SLD/PMLD and Complex Learning Difficulties and Disabilities (CLDD), how to adapt the curriculum for them, assess their progress and collaborate with parents, carers and other professionals to meet their needs. If you are interested in becoming a specialist in this area, this module will deliver what you need.

Flexible assessment

On completion of the learning experiences, you’ll submit one critical analysis assignment (2,500 words) and two practice analysis assignments (1,500 words or equivalent each).

Professional benefits

- Enhance communication between children, parents and other professionals.
- Understand and respond to legislation.
- Develop your understanding of working with other services.
- Understand safeguarding, privacy and dignity issues in relation to care and support.
- Evaluate the impact of a chosen intervention.

School benefits

- Bring expertise in-school and save money.
- Flexible distance learning - less time out of school.
- Access a wealth of practical resources, academic research and interactive materials.
- Develop effective support for the most vulnerable children in your school.

Eligibility

To complete this module, you will need to:
- Have completed an undergraduate degree.
- Be working in or have access to a UK or international education setting - you will embed learning through practice in such a setting.

Evidence & Pedagogy for Inclusion (EPI)

This module is the perfect partner for our range of Skills and Knowledge modules, allowing you to achieve a Postgraduate Certificate qualification in a specialist subject.

A compelling combination

To complete the Evidence and Pedagogy for Inclusion (EPI) module, you will need to have completed, or be taking concurrently, one or more of our range of Skills and Knowledge (S&K) modules. You can then enrol on the EPI module and choose a focus area which matches one of the S&K modules you have already taken:
- Psychology for Education.
- Cognition and Learning.
- Autism Spectrum Conditions.
- Dyslexia - Leadership and Intervention.
- Social, Emotional and Mental Health Needs.
- Speech, Language and Communication Needs.
- Severe, Profound and Complex Learning Difficulties and Disabilities.
- Educational Testing.*

Flexible assessment

On completion of the learning experiences, you’ll submit one practice analysis assignment (2,500 words), one critical analysis assignment (2,500 words) and one reflective analysis assignment (1,000 words).

Professional benefits

- Develop a deeper understanding of your chosen focus area.
- Further develop the skills of a reflective practitioner in education.
- Apply knowledge of evidence-based practice to working with learners with SEND in a real-world context.

School benefits

- Bring expertise in-school and save money.
- Plan, deliver and evaluate interventions in their educational setting for pupils with needs in the nominated SEND focus area.
- Access a wealth of practical resources, academic research and interactive materials to support you.

Eligibility

To complete this module, you will need to:
- Have completed at least one of our S&K modules.
- Be working in or have access to a UK or international education setting - you will embed learning through practice in such a setting.

Module leaders

Please note that the module leaders for the EPI focus areas are the same as the S&K modules - please see the relevant S&K module page for details.

Enquiry-based SEND Practice

Completion of this module, after gaining 120 credits from other SEND programme modules, leads to the Master of Education in SEND

Completing your MEd

This module is required for completion of the MEd in Special Educational Needs and Disability (SEND). The supported piece of enquiry-based professional research will help you examine your own practice and that of others to gain a new level of understanding of how enquiry, research and critical reflection can improve outcomes for those you are working with.

Whatever your professional role across the spectrum of educational settings, in the area of SEND - as in any other - there is a need for culturally relevant, responsive services that make a positive difference and help understand the child in the context of their network of family and professional support. Completion of this module will give you the skills and knowledge you need to meet this challenge.

Your own research project

Choosing the area of SEND of most interest or relevance to you, this carefully structured module will enable you to critically engage with the theory and research base and conduct an enquiry-based research project of your own. Throughout there will be a strong emphasis on reflective activities, further improving your understanding of your own and others’ practice and helping you to develop effective teaching and management strategies.

Topics covered will include:
- Approaches to enquiry: qualitative and quantitative, positivist and interpretative.
- Features of enquiry-based practice and practitioner research.
- Negotiating research in your organisation: using the RADIO model.
- Designing a piece of enquiry-based practice: Action Research cycles.
- Research ethics and codes of conduct.
- Data collection and analysis.
- Writing up your research.

Action and enquiry-based research allow you to focus on practice that is useful to you and your organisation. Rather than standing on the side noticing and recording, the action and enquiry approach puts you at the centre of change - making a positive difference.

Choosing your research topic

Contact us if you are ready to complete your Masters and you wish to talk through possible topics for further enquiry or research. Whilst it is not necessary to have a topic idea prior to enrolling on this module we understand that sometimes it can help with the process of enrolment if you can be sure that a topic is relevant for further enquiry and research. In these circumstances we are happy to talk through ideas with you and other people you work with.

Flexible assessment

This practice-based distance learning module is structured around carefully designed learning experiences, each with a practical activity at its heart that engages directly with your own professional context. Supporting theory, reflection and example activities will help you undertake and complete the relevant aspects of the assignments up to and including the completion of your Action Research project. You will submit two critical analysis assignments (3,000 words each), one practice analysis assignment (3,000 words or equivalent) and one reflective analysis (1,000 words or equivalent). Where a word equivalence is given, you may submit as part of your final portfolio of evidence multimedia resources that you have produced within your applied practice.

Professional benefits

- Focus your research on a topic of relevance to you.
- Undertake an enquiry-based research project that makes a difference.
- Apply the enquiry-based approach to practice.
- Publish your work with our guidance and support.
- Complete your Master of Education (MEd).
- Progress your professional career.

Eligibility

To complete this module, you will need to:
- Have completed 120 masters credits with us or through accepted accreditation for prior learning (APL) - see page 16 for details.
- Be working in or have access to a UK or international education setting - you will embed learning through practice in such a setting.

Inclusive Leadership Qualifications

Empowering and inspiring the next generation of leaders in education.

MA in Leading Inclusive Education (MALIE)

Working in partnership with Middlesex University, we are pleased to offer an alternative Masters route to the SEND Programme, designed for today’s leaders in education and the challenges they face regarding the important area of inclusion. With optional modules informing you on the latest research and thinking around gender and sexuality, communities and culture and learning differences amongst other key areas, the MA in Leading Inclusive Education (MALIE) offers leaders and aspiring leaders the opportunity to develop effective inclusive practice in their settings.

MALIE is a natural next step for those who have already completed the National Award for SEN Coordination (NASENCO) or one of the National Professional Qualifications (NPQs), and wish to focus on inclusion. Masters credits from these courses can be brought onto the programme in line with the Accreditation for Prior Learning (APL) guidelines from Middlesex University.

See pages 36-45 for more details on the MALIE programme and look out for modules with the MALIE programme logo.

National Professional Qualifications (NPQs)

To ensure that our National Professional Qualifications (NPQ) meet the needs and expectations of today’s leaders and aspiring leaders in schools and colleges, we have been working closely with three partner schools to develop and deliver the courses. Not only that, our two company directors are Educational Psychologists and have taught in schools, so we really do understand the challenges of leadership in today’s education system.

By completing one of the three available NPQ courses with Real Training you will gain a highly valued and internationally respected qualification which is accredited by the Department for Education (DfE). In fact, Real Training is the only accredited provider offering fully-online courses to provide the ultimate flexibility for you to study at a pace that complements your professional and personal commitments.

Whether you are aspiring to become a head of department, you are an experienced middle leader or you have been newly appointed as a head teacher, we have a course to help you develop your leadership skills to encourage, inspire and support others in your setting:

- Middle leadership (NPQML) - see page 48
- Senior leadership (NPQSL) - see page 49
- Headship (NPQH) - see page 50-51

“Leadership and learning are indispensable to each other.”

MA in Leading Inclusive Education (MALIE)

Masters-level, practice-led learning modules allowing you to develop key expertise and skills to become an inclusive leader in your setting

Developing inclusive education practice

The MA in Leading Inclusive Education (MALIE) programme is delivered and assessed by Middlesex University. It was developed jointly by Middlesex and Real Training to create a pathway for education professionals, from all phases and settings, who wish to progress into leadership roles, or to develop their leadership skills, in the crucial area of inclusion. With the benefits offered by Real Training's Campus Online learning portal, MALIE is a flexible programme, offering practice-led learning of the highest quality, supported by leadership experts.

Accreditation for Prior Learning (APL)

Real Training is delighted to welcome delegates to the programme who have already gained relevant credits at Masters level (level 7 credits) on another course. A maximum of two-thirds of the credits for any final exit award can be obtained through APL. Therefore, delegates will need to consider their intended exit point from the MALIE programme. The credits will need to be level 7, achieved in the last five years and the learning outcomes should match those of our own MALIE Programme modules.

Building your Masters programme

You will then need to complete six modules in total. These will be made up of four core compulsory modules and two or three optional modules from a selection of six.

1. Take the compulsory first module:
   - Leadership of Inclusive Practice - page 38

2. Choose two 30-credit modules to complete:
   - Gender and Sexuality - page 39
   - Communities and Culture - page 40
   - Social, Emotional and Mental Health Difficulties - page 41
   - Learning Differences - page 42
   - Migration and Language Acquisition - page 43
   - Learning Conversations, Coaching and Mentoring - page 44

3. Compulsory final module:
   - Enquiry-based Inclusive Practice - page 45

Gaining a Postgraduate Certificate

If you wish to exit the programme with a Postgraduate Certificate in Leading Inclusive Education, you will need to complete 60 credits on the programme. This will include either the full 60-credit Leadership of Inclusive Practice module or a 30-credit version of this module combined with 30 credits from a prior qualification, agreed with Real Training and Middlesex University in advance.

Completing a Postgraduate Diploma

If you wish to exit the programme with a Postgraduate Diploma in Leading Inclusive Education, you will need to complete 120 credits on the programme. This will include the Leadership of Inclusive Practice module, either as a 60 or as a 30 credit module* plus two or three of the optional 30-credit modules.

* The 30-credit version of the Leadership of Inclusive Practice module is only available when delegates are able to bring in 30 credits from a prior qualification, as agreed in advance with Real Training and Middlesex.
Leadership of Inclusive Practice

Building an inclusive school
How can you inspire, encourage and support others to develop inclusive practice in your setting? What does the latest research tell you about leadership styles and structures and how to harness them effectively? This compulsory module forms the basis of your journey through this programme and provides the foundation upon which you will build your knowledge and skills.

Course content
During this module you’ll develop a critical understanding of leadership and management models, leadership styles and the difference between leadership and management. You’ll reflect on your own and others’ leadership styles and begin to develop your own leadership and management skills further.

Flexible assessment
On completion of the learning experiences, you’ll submit one critical analysis assignment (2,000 words), one practice analysis assignment (5,000 words) and one reflective analysis (2,000 words).

Professional benefits
• Develop a critical understanding of leadership and management models and the difference between leadership and management.
• Develop highly effective leadership and management skills.
• Understand the context of inclusive practice in education and the role of leadership in developing inclusive education.
• Practice-focused - learn as you work.

School benefits
• Effective and inclusive leaders.
• Improved communication, time management and people management skills of school leaders.
• Effective inclusion policies and practice to support all children in the school.
• A stable, skilled and confident workforce.
• Flexible distance learning - less time out of school.

Eligibility
To complete this module, you will need to:
• Have completed an undergraduate degree.
• Be working in or have access to a UK or international education setting - you will embed learning through practice in such a setting.

Gender and Sexuality

Meeting a growing challenge
How diverse is your curriculum with respect to gender and sexuality? Do those engaged with learners in your setting appreciate the significance of socially constructed frameworks on those who identify as lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer and intersex? What about the law - do you understand the implications of the legislation around an oppressive and discriminatory practice? These are just some of the challenging and vital questions to be addressed in relation to gender and sexuality within contemporary educational contexts.

Course content
This module provides the opportunity for you to explore important issues and challenges relating to gender and sexuality in an educational setting today. The module will equip you with the skills to develop interventions that will promote and maintain an informed and constructive dialogue around gender and sexuality in your setting.

Flexible assessment
On completion of the learning experiences, you’ll submit one critical analysis assignment (2,000 words), one practice analysis assignment (2,000 words) and one reflective analysis (2,000 words).

Professional benefits
• Analyse, critically evaluate and develop strategies that minimise the impact of gender stereotypes within education settings on children and their families.
• Demonstrate and reflect critically on gender and sexuality issues affecting young people.
• Understand critical theories and models on gender, sexuality and heteronormativity, amongst others.
• Develop interpersonal and group work skills in working with young people around sensitive issues.
• Practice-focused - learn as you work.

School benefits
• Effective interventions to support young people are developed and delivered, based on research evidence.
• Updated and clear policies relevant to promoting equality and diversity in your educational setting.
• Guidance and best practice to combat discrimination that relate to gender and sexuality of young people in your setting.
• Effective strategies to support the wellbeing of young people.
• A stable, skilled and confident workforce.

Eligibility
To complete this module, you will need to:
• Have completed an undergraduate degree.
• Be working in or have access to a UK or international education setting - you will embed learning through practice in such a setting.
Communities and Culture

Creating an inclusive environment
What are culture, identity and community? Where does one begin and the other end? What are the strategies that can be used in a modern educational setting to promote inclusion whilst respecting and valuing difference? Understanding the influence of culture and community on pupils, families, and their ensuing relationship with the educational setting is a vital and expanding area of research in contemporary education. The notions of cultural and community identity are shifting and encompassing new territory such as gender, online communities, and alternative communities in addition to the traditional areas of ethnicity, nationality and religion.

Course content
The Communities and Culture module will allow you to develop your understanding of theory and practice in relation to these issues. You’ll examine the variety of cultures and different communities related to your setting, the provisions and community resources available to you in your practice, as well as establishing a plan for leading your setting towards a cohesive approach to multiculturalism and community settings.

Flexible assessment
On completion of the learning experiences, you’ll submit one critical analysis assignment (2,000 words), one practice analysis assignment (2,000 words) and one reflective analysis (2,000 words).

Professional benefits
- Become aware of theoretical perspectives on multiculturalism, identity, and community.
- Gain a deeper understanding of cultural and community influence on pupils, families and their ensuing relationship with the educational setting.
- Become the leading voice in your setting for best practice relating to culture and communities, establishing a plan for a cohesive approach to multiculturalism.
- Practice-focused - learn as you work.

School benefits
- Identification and improved understanding of the beliefs, attitudes and values held by the cultures and/or communities in your setting.
- Improved practice relating to cultures and communities in your setting.
- A stable, skilled and confident workforce.
- Flexible distance learning - less time out of school.

Eligibility
To complete this module, you will need to:
- Have completed an undergraduate degree.
- Be working in or have access to a UK or international education setting - you will embed learning through practice in such a setting.

Social, Emotional and Mental Health Difficulties

A vital professional need
Bring your practice up to date with the latest thinking and emerging trends in working to meet the social, emotional and mental health needs of learners. Recognise the significance of social, emotional and mental health needs and their relationship to mental health theories about risk and resilience.

Course content
In this module, you will gain confidence and expertise in evaluating your own workplace setting in relation to local and national provision and legal frameworks. You will also critically analyse management approaches and tools for assessment and identification.

Flexible assessment
On completion of the learning experiences, you’ll submit one critical analysis assignment (2,000 words) and one practice analysis and reflection assignment (3,000 words).

Professional benefits
- Gain a deeper understanding of the possible controversial issues around SEND, including psychological theories.
- Reflect on your own practice and develop key skills to support children experiencing SEMH in your setting.
- Practice-focused - learn as you work.

School benefits
- Effective strategies and improved provision to support and manage children who are experiencing SEMH.
- Updated policies in line with UK-related legislation, policy and guidance to support pupils with SEMH.
- Bring expertise in-school and save money.
- Flexible distance learning - less time out of school.

Eligibility
To complete this module, you will need to:
- Have completed an undergraduate degree.
- Be working in or have access to a UK or international education setting - you will embed learning through practice in such a setting.
Learning Differences

Make a difference

The Learning Differences module presents an opportunity for you to evaluate how well you and others understand a range of learning needs and to consider how to lead your setting in applying an effective and ethical narrative in relation to learning differences, such as literacy difficulties, special educational needs and/or disability, or the needs of the most able pupils.

Course content

In this module, you will develop your knowledge and understanding of a range of learning needs, while focusing further on needs that may be particularly relevant to your setting. The module will equip you with a working knowledge of how current research, narratives on learning needs and to consider how to lead your setting in applying an effective and ethical narrative in relation to learning differences.

Flexible assessment

On completion of the learning experiences, you’ll submit one critical analysis assignment (2,000 words), one practice analysis assignment (2,010 words) and one reflective analysis (2,000 words).

Professional benefits

- Gain a deeper understanding of language and migration in the global context of the 21st century. As well as examining the patterns of current and global migration, you’ll also critically reflect on how languages that remain alive in learners’ lives will serve as linguistic, artistic, social and cultural resources for the speakers, their families and communities.
- A stable, skilled and confident workforce.
- Practice-focused - learn as you work.
- Improved inclusive practice and effective teaching.
- Flexible distance learning - less time out of school.

Eligibility

To complete this module, you will need to:
- Complete an undergraduate degree.
- Be working in or have access to a UK or international education setting - you will embed learning through practice in such a setting.

MODULE LEADER:
Ron Sergejev
Ron Sergejev has 35 years’ experience in secondary schools in North London and Hertfordshire. Many of them spent in senior leadership positions. He currently works at Middlesex University as a Programme Leader for various Masters programmes and is also module leader for some undergraduate programmes and Initial Teacher Training.

Meeting a growing challenge

In this module, you’ll develop your knowledge and understanding of language and migration in the global context of the 21st century. As well as examining the patterns of current and global migration, you’ll also critically reflect on how languages that remain alive in learners’ lives will serve as linguistic, artistic, social and cultural resources for the speakers, their families and communities.

Course content

Firstly through theoretical perspectives and case studies of schools and multilingual pupils, the module focuses on using first, second, additional and home languages in educational settings and examines critically how these benefit learners themselves, their educational communities and the wider society. Secondly, you will learn and understand more about migrating people including multiple origins and transnationally connected families in complex socio-economic situations.

Flexible assessment

On completion of the learning experiences, you’ll submit one critical analysis assignment (2,000 words), one practice analysis assignment (2,000 words) and one reflective analysis (2,000 words).

Professional benefits

- Gain a greater understanding of historical and current trends relating to learning differences, including SEND legislation and guidance.
- Develop the ability to identify learning differences relevant in your setting.
- Lead your setting in applying an effective and ethical narrative in relation to learning differences.
- Practice-focused - learn as you work.

Eligibility

To complete this module, you will need to:
- Complete an undergraduate degree.
- Be working in or have access to a UK or international education setting - you will embed learning through practice in such a setting.

MODULE LEADER:
Dr Leena Robertson
Dr Leena Robertson started her teaching career in England over thirty years ago. She has worked in various school roles in and around London. For the past 14 years Leena has worked in two universities; currently she is an Associate Professor and the Director of Primary and Early Years Programmes and the PGCE Early Years Programme Leader at Middlesex.
Learning Conversations, Coaching and Mentoring

Providing effective support
The Learning Conversations, Coaching and Mentoring module gives you the opportunity to gain a deeper understanding of some of the more common coaching models as well as being introduced to the field of coaching psychology. Through this research and the module’s assignments, you will develop coaching and mentoring skills which serve as key leadership tools to support and develop colleagues and build capacity within your setting.

Course content
On completing this module, you will have developed your own skills through regular coaching dialogues in the workplace and reflection on this practice as part of a small action research project. You will learn about the field of coaching psychology and its wide range of behavioural and cognitive techniques that enable individuals to reach their capabilities through self-directed learning and personal growth as well as enhancing their wellbeing. You’ll also explore theoretical debates about coaching and mentoring and reflect upon the ways in which the two themes interrelate.

Flexible assessment
On completion of the learning experiences, you’ll submit one critical analysis assignment (2,000 words), one practice analysis assignment (2,000 words) and one reflective analysis (2,000 words).

Professional benefits
- Gain a deeper understanding of what inclusive coaching and inclusive mentoring is.
- Develop highly effective key coaching and mentoring skills.
- Become an effective inclusive leader, working successfully with colleagues in your setting.
- Practice-focused - learn as you work.

School benefits
- Flexible distance learning - less time out of school.
- A stable, skilled and confident workforce.
- Effective leaders with improved communication and people management skills.

Eligibility

Enquiry-based Inclusive Practice

Completing your MA
This 60 credit module completes the MA Leading Inclusive Education programme, enabling you to bring together what you have learned and apply your skills to develop, implement and evaluate an intervention in your chosen setting. It’s an exciting and rewarding way to conclude your Masters programme and one that we hope will inspire you as a leader and promoter of positive change throughout your subsequent career.

Course content
Using the action research approach known as RADIO (Research and Development in Organisations), you’ll explore how leadership can make a difference in your focus area of inclusion. The module activities will guide you through the process, from researching and developing your proposal, to engaging with stakeholders, implementing the intervention and data gathering, before writing up and presenting your findings.

Flexible assessment
On completion of the learning experiences, you’ll submit two critical analysis assignments (3,000 words each), one practice analysis assignment (5,000 words) and one reflective analysis (1,000 words).

Inclusive leadership

We are currently the only fully online provider of National Professional Qualifications (NPQs) in the UK. This means you can benefit from the utmost flexibility without missing out on vital support - we make sure that each delegate gets the full support they need, no matter where they are and no matter which NPQ course they are completing.

“...I have become a mentor for Real Training. Their intent is to provide support for all delegates from existing outstanding practitioners... implemented through a state-of-the-art online portal. I am thrilled at the prospect and keen to work with Real Training and the future leaders of our schools.”

Stuart Allen, Head Teacher, Mile Cross Primary School

Support through Real Training

School mentor
The delegate is asked to identify a mentor in their setting to support them throughout the course.
This should be someone who is approachable and supportive of their participation in the course. They do not need to be a leadership ‘expert’.

School sponsor
The delegate is asked to identify a sponsor in their setting to have a close oversight of their work and provide comments on progress.
This is usually the headteacher, but it can be delegated to a senior member of staff if the headteacher feel this is appropriate.

Placement headteacher and governing body
For the NPQH course, the delegate will work closely with the headteacher and governing body at a placement school, developing and implementing a whole-school change project at this school.

Enhancing your leadership behaviours

As a result of this excellent support and insightful course content, you will work on developing some key leadership behaviours:

- Commitment
- Collaboration
- Personal drive
- Resilience
- Awareness
- Integrity
- Respect

Developing your leadership skills

The three courses will cover similar areas of focus, with content tailored to the specific leadership level. You will develop your professional skills in the following areas:

- Leading with impact.
- Strategy and improvement.
- Teaching and curriculum excellence.
- Working in partnership.
- Managing resources and risks.
- Increasing capability.

PROGRAMME LEADER: Annie Grant

Annie Grant is a writer and film-maker specialising in education. She was previously a teacher and a Local Authority adviser before moving to the University of North London (now London Metropolitan University) where she became Head of School of Teaching Studies. Before leaving to become self-employed, Annie was Head of Initial Teacher training at the Teacher Training Agency overseeing, among other things, the first QTS Standards.

Support through Real Training

Tutor
A Real Training tutor is allocated to provide one-to-one support throughout the duration of the course. They are experienced leaders and leadership experts, many of whom are current serving leaders in schools. They will help you plan your work and support with any queries you have during your learning journey with us.

Leadership coach
A leadership coach is allocated by Real Training to support the NPQH delegate in making sense of feedback from colleagues. They will also support the delegate to plan, implement and review changes to their leadership behaviours.

Professional partner
The delegate selects a professional partner to work with during the NPQH course. These are experienced headteachers from a variety of phases of education who are available to talk through the school project and the placement project during two consultation sessions.

National Professional Qualification for Middle Leadership (NPQML)

Lead your team with confidence

The National Professional Qualification for Middle Leadership (NPQML) is designed for those who are currently aspiring to be middle leaders with responsibility for a team. This covers a wide variety of roles but could include key stage leaders, curriculum leaders, subject leaders, head of departments and pastoral services leaders.

Course content

The course will start with a reflective leadership behaviour assessment, which will help to establish your strengths, and identify behaviours to work on to improve your effectiveness in leadership.

Course content will then look at how to implement successful change at a team level, including growing evidence-based teaching within your team and improving the progress, attainment and behaviour of all pupils. Additionally, the content will review different leadership styles and how to deploy resources efficiently including managing risks.

Flexible assessment

NPQML delegates must lead a school improvement project within their team, lasting at least 2 terms, aimed at reducing variation in pupil progress and attainment (part A) and improving the efficiency and effectiveness of teaching (part B) (5,000 words).

Eligibility

To complete this module, you will need to:

- Have completed an undergraduate degree.
- Be working in or have access to a UK or international education setting - you will embed learning through practice in such a setting.
- Have support of the school’s headteacher to lead a whole school project.

Professional benefits

- Critically evaluate your own leadership style and skills.
- Develop your confidence to effectively lead and support your team.
- Organise your own flexible study plan around other work and personal commitments.
- Be tutored by experienced education leaders, some are current serving middle and senior leaders in schools.
- Gain a nationally recognised and highly valued qualification.

School benefits

- An effective leadership team, recognised by parents, students and other key stakeholders.
- Access a wealth of practical resources, academic research and interactive materials to support you and your school.
- A stable, skilled and confident workforce.

Take the next step in leadership

The National Professional Qualification for Senior Leadership (NPQSL) is suitable for those who are currently aspiring to be senior leaders with responsibilities across an education setting. This could include experienced middle leaders, deputy or assistant heads, SENCOs or advanced skills teachers.

Course content

The course will start with a reflective leadership behaviour assessment, which will help to establish your strengths, and identify behaviours to work on to improve your effectiveness in leadership.

Course content will then look at analysing data to identify causes of variation, working with the governing body to design and implement a sustainable change project to reduce variation in progress and attainment. Delegates will be supported in developing and maintaining a high-quality curriculum and outlining this, and other key policies, in an effective communication plan. Delegates will lead and motivate others to deliver whole-school objectives by identifying and developing talent as well as facilitating the sharing of best practice.

Flexible assessment

NPQSL delegates must lead a school improvement project within their team, lasting at least 2 terms, aimed at reducing variation in pupil progress and attainment (part A) and improving the efficiency and effectiveness of teaching (part B) (5,000 words)

Professional benefits

- Critically evaluate your own leadership style and skills.
- Develop your confidence to effectively lead and support colleagues and students in your school.
- Organise your own flexible study plan around other work and personal commitments.
- Be tutored by experienced education leaders, some are current serving senior leaders or headteachers in schools.
- Gain a nationally recognised and highly valued qualification.

School benefits

- An effective leadership team, recognised by parents, students and other key stakeholders.
- Access a wealth of practical resources, academic research and interactive materials to support you and your school.
- A stable, skilled and confident workforce.
- All the children in your school are effectively supported.
- An effective leadership team, recognised by parents, students and other key stakeholders.
- Access a wealth of practical resources, academic research and interactive materials to support you and your school.
- A stable, skilled and confident workforce.
- All the children in your school are effectively supported.
National Professional Qualification for Headship (NPQH)

Take the next step in leadership

The National Professional Qualification for Headship (NPQH) is suitable for those who are highly motivated to become headteachers. You should, normally, be no more than 12 to 18 months from applying for headship posts or line manager.

Course content

The course will start with a productive leadership behaviour assessment, which will help to establish your strengths, and identify behaviours to work on to improve your effectiveness in leadership.

Course content will then support delegates to develop an evidence-based organisational strategy which anticipates changes in the strategic environment to plan for the growth of excellent teaching to support all students. In addition to this, delegates will learn to distribute responsibility and accountability throughout the school to improve performance, creating an environment where all staff members are encouraged to develop and where capability requirements are anticipated and planned for. Delegates will also learn to balance a school's strategic or anticipated and planned for. Delegates will also learn to balance a school's strategic or educational priorities with financial efficiency.

Flexible assessment

NPQH delegates must lead a school change programme, lasting at least 2 terms, to improve pupil progress and attainment (task 1 - 4,000 words) and design an action plan to meet their placement school’s resourcing and capability needs (task 2 - 2,500 words). Delegates will also need to present each project to the governing body.

Professional benefits

- Critically evaluate your own leadership style and skills.
- Develop your confidence to effectively lead and support the whole school.
- Organise your own flexible study plan around other work and personal commitments.
- Be tutored by experienced education leaders, some are current serving leaders in schools.
- Gain a nationally recognised and highly valued qualification.
- Gain valuable support from an experienced leadership coach to hone your leadership skills.
- Work closely with a professional partner (experienced headteacher) to provide expert advice for your NPQH projects.

School benefits

- An effective leadership team, recognised by parents, students and other key stakeholders.
- Access a wealth of practical resources, academic research and interactive materials to support you and your school.
- A stable, skilled and confident workforce.
- All the children and staff in your school are effectively supported.

Eligibility

To complete this module, you will need to:

- Have completed an undergraduate degree.
- Be working in or have access to a UK or international education setting - you will embed learning through practice in such a setting.
- Be tutored by experienced education (experienced headteacher) to provide expert advice for your NPQH projects.
- All the children and staff in your school are effectively supported.

Professional Assessment Courses and Qualifications

A unique way to learn
We provide the most comprehensive UK training in professional assessment and access arrangements. Our unique range of packages will fit in with your working life and help you reach the next professional level.

Study on the job, online, offline, over time, or in intensive short, sharp bursts – and find the professional assessment training option that suits you.

Further studies
Our CCET qualification (p.54-55) is a great stand-alone course but it is also a stepping stone to further learning. After completing CCET you could go on to be a qualified Access Arrangements Assessor or a Specialist Teacher with a Specific Learning Difficulties (SpLD) Assessment Practising Certificate (APC). If you need additional educational testing support in your setting, you will also be able to supervise a number of Assistant Test Users. All learning journeys are outlined on pages 44-45 and you can also find out more on the individual course pages to follow.

If you are looking to complete our CPT3A qualification (pages 58-59), you may find it useful to sign up to our free-of-charge Access Arrangements Update (AAU) course each year. This will provide you with details of any updates made by the Joint Council for Qualifications (JCQ) each September and outline any other new developments in the field of educational assessment.

Eligibility for the BPS’s Register of Qualifications in Test Use (RQTU)
You would be eligible for the RQTU upon successful completion of CCET, CPT3A or ATU but you are not obliged to join it. We believe that the three key advantages outlined below make a compelling case for joining the RQTU:

• First, it provides public recognition of your competence, which means that your name can be found by anyone wanting to check your qualification.
• Secondly, you get access to information including test reviews and a quarterly journal entitled Assessment & Development Matters.
• Thirdly, it provides a framework for your ongoing professional development.

If you decide to join the BPS’s RQTU, then you will need to settle the registration fee directly with the BPS. There is a one-off fee for initial certification and a modest annual registration fee. For more information on exactly what the BPS charges, take a look at ptc.bps.org.uk/how-apply-packs. Please note: We have not included the additional BPS costs in the price of our courses, because not everybody wants to join the BPS’s RQTU – although we do recommend it.

We understand that not all delegates have access to tests in their setting and may need to purchase assessments to enable them to complete the course. In addition, some delegates are unable to access a higher level of test until they are suitably qualified. Real Training is working with the Dyslexia Action Shop to support these delegates through a test loan scheme.

In agreement with the test publishers we are able to allow access to some of the higher level assessments during your training on the CCET, CPT3A and ATU courses. As long as you complete the course you will be able to keep the assessment to begin to develop a library of suitable assessments.

Download the order form online or contact us with your queries about the loan scheme:

96% of all CCET delegates in 2018 rated their course overall as good or very good
Certificate of Competence in Educational Testing (CCET)

Combine this module with other courses to achieve a wide range of qualifications (see pages 56-57).

Essential skills and understanding
- CCET will give you an understanding of the fundamental underlying principles of all psychometric tests and you will then be able to apply this knowledge to any psychometric test in your setting. You will be able to identify the correct test, use it effectively and interpret the results. This includes tests for progress as well as some special needs.

Course content
- The course covers all of the BPS competences and standards for those who wish to be registered as test users. It includes:
  - Test administration and scoring.
  - Maintenance of security and data protection.
  - Test standardisation.
  - Classical test theory, reliability and confidence in test data.
  - Validity.
  - Theories of intelligence and the influence on test construction.
  - Test bias, discrimination and making adjustments to accommodate disability.
  - Test choice and using other assessment methodologies.
  - Interpreting test data.
  - Providing oral and written feedback.

Flexible assessment
- You will need to create a portfolio of evidence that demonstrates your competence. Your portfolio will include:
  - Some multiple choice questionnaires.
  - A few short essay-style written assignments.
  - A review of a suitable test.
  - A record of a competent test administration.
  - Evidence of good quality professional feedback both orally and in writing.

Professional benefits
- Understand how educational tests are developed and standardised and achieve competence and confidence in educational testing.
- Analyse test manuals to decide if a test is reliable, valid and appropriate for your students.
- ‘Get to grips’ with the purpose of testing and assessment and develop the ability to interpret test scores and integrate those test scores with other forms of assessment.
- Communicate your understanding to others orally and in writing, while also developing the confidence to interpret reports from other professionals.
- Comply with the requirements of the relevant legislation in your assessment processes.
- Join the British Psychological Society’s (BPS) RQTU and access a BPS online database of test reviews.
- Purchase psychometric tests that would otherwise be restricted.

School benefits
- Bring expertise in-school and save money.
- Work more effectively with your setting’s educational psychologist and make better use of their time.
- Access a wealth of practical resources, academic research and interactive materials.
- Access to discounted educational tests.
- Develop effective support for the most vulnerable children in your school.

Eligibility for the course
- No prior qualifications are required for this course as it is an open access course. However, to complete this module, you will need the following:
  - To be working in, or have regular access to, a UK or international setting.
  - To have access to educational tests.

Eligibility for masters credits
- As long as you have an undergraduate degree, you will be able to:
  - Enrol on one of the Masters programmes and join as if you have 30 credits towards a postgraduate qualification.
  - Register as a Middlesex University student and exit the course with 30 credits at level 7 for an additional fee.

Going intensive?
- Our intensive option is designed for those who wish to complete the course quickly. It requires three days’ attendance (including evening work) at one of a range of spa hotels across the country (residential/non-residential). You will need to do some work before the course and some practical application afterwards. Please note: these courses are very popular, so early booking is essential. For intensive course dates, please go to our dedicated CCET page online.

Eligibility for masters credits
- As long as you have an undergraduate degree, you will be able to:
  - Enrol on one of the Masters programmes and join as if you have 30 credits towards a postgraduate qualification.
  - Register as a Middlesex University student and exit the course with 30 credits at level 7 for an additional fee.

Modules Leaders:
- Kate Fieldhouse & Sarah Norris

Kate Fieldhouse is a senior educational psychologist. She has helped to develop this industry-standard course for those who want to understand testing and assessment in an educational setting.

Sarah Norris is a senior educational psychologist who has worked extensively with schools and young people with SEND. Sarah specialises in the field of mental health and young people with social and emotional needs.
Take the first step to fast-track your career

Although the Certificate of Competence in Educational Testing (CCET) is a highly-valued standalone qualification, it is often the starting point for our delegates’ learning journeys. Pass CCET and you will be in ‘pole position’ to achieve your professional ambitions.
Certificate in Psychometric Testing, Assessment and Access Arrangements (CPT3A)

Completion of this course qualifies you as an Access Arrangements Assessor in line with the JCQ criteria

Qualify as an access arrangements assessor

CPT3A will help you to understand how assessments using psychometric tests are developed; how to use them effectively; how to interpret the results; and how to write access arrangements for public examinations. It will also enable you to become an access arrangements assessor.

When you study CPT3A, you will start with our Certificate of Competence in Educational Testing (CCET) and finish with our Access Arrangements Course (AAC). CCET will teach you how to use psychometric instruments effectively (see pages 54-55), while AAC will show you how to apply instruments in exam access arrangements. Successful completion of AAC will not only give you CPT3A, but will also ensure that you meet the access arrangements assessor criteria published by the Joint Council for Qualifications (JCQ).

Course content

When you study for CPT3A, the CCET is included, so all of the same British Psychological Society (BPS) standards are covered (see pages 54-55). The following elements are also covered:

- JCQ regulations.
- Requirements of the Equality Act.
- Submission of access arrangement requests.
- Case studies.
- Guidance on report format.

Flexible assessment

Each study route has its own distinct assessments. Whichever one you choose, you will need to create a portfolio of evidence that demonstrates your competence. Your portfolio will include:

- All the requirements of CCET (see pages 54-55).
- Some further short multiple choice questionnaires.
- Case studies.
- Written reports that meet the requirements of access arrangements.

Professional benefits

In addition to the benefits already noted in the CCET pages of this prospectus (pages 54-55), CPT3A will equip you to:

- Meet the requirements of the JCQ and the access arrangements’ regulations.
- Know and apply the principles of access arrangements.
- Understand the essence and implications of the relevant legislation.
- Write suitable and appropriate assessment reports for submission to examination boards where required.

Going intensive?

Our fully intensive and blended study routes offer a fast-track option for completion of CPT3A. In addition to the 3-day CCET module, mentioned on pages 54-55, it is also possible to complete the AAC as a face-to-face module, but this time only one day is required. As with CCET, you will need to do some work before the course and some practical application afterwards. Please note: these courses are very popular, so early booking is essential. For intensive course dates, please go to our dedicated CPT3A page online.

Assistant Test User (ATU)

Many hands make light work particularly suitable for large or busy settings, this qualification enables the test administration responsibility to be shared among two or more colleagues. The ATU is a nationally-recognised BPS qualification designed for education professionals who want to develop their test administration skills.

Course content

The course covers all of the competencies and standards laid down by the BPS for those who wish to be registered as ATUs. It includes:

- Test administration and scoring
- Security and data protection maintenance.

Flexible assessment

You will be required to demonstrate your competence as a test administrator and your ability to understand and act upon security and data protection issues. As part of this, you will need to complete a short multiple choice questionnaire and provide a record of a competent test administration that you have taken part in.

Professional benefits

- Develop a critical understanding of the processes of assessment.
- Develop strong, practical test administration skills that make a real contribution to your setting.
- Gain a nationally recognised BPS qualification.

School benefits

- Support your setting’s Test User with key test administration tasks.
- Bring expertise in school and save money.
- Flexible distance learning - less time out of school.
- Cost-effective training for a team of aspiring test administrators available through a bespoke solution.
- Practice-focused – learn as you work.
- Access to discounted educational tests.

Eligibility

No prior qualifications are required for this course as it is an open access course. However, to complete this course, you will need to:

- Be working in or have access to a UK or international education setting - you will embed learning through practice in such a setting.
- Have access to educational tests for use during the course.
- Be supervised by a Test User in your setting (e.g. someone who has completed CCET). Please note that completion of this course does not qualify you to administer tests for access arrangements applications as these must be completed by the qualified access arrangements assessor.

Module leaders:

Kate Fieldhouse & Sarah Norris

Kate Fieldhouse is a senior educational psychologist. She has helped to develop this industry-standard course for those who want to understand testing and assessment in an educational setting.

Sarah Norris is a senior educational psychologist who has worked extensively with schools and young people with SEND. Sarah specialises in the field of mental health and young people with social and emotional needs.

Cognitive Abilities Profile (CAP)

Apply psychology in the classroom

This course is designed to train professionals in the comprehensive use of CAP. As a detailed evidence-based tool for consultation and structured data collection, it can be used by educational and clinical psychologists, therapists, SENCOs and specialist teachers. CAP’s advantage is that it is not a psychometric test with age-specific norms. This makes the use of CAP particularly appropriate for a wide variety of students and is not limited to school/academic settings.

Within the new SEND legislative framework, CAP can be used for students from early years into adulthood, providing a flexible tool for work in the new extended age range for education, health and care plans (EHCPs) up to the age of 25 years.

Course content

The course covers topics related to cognitive abilities as well as how to effectively use CAP, including:

- The principles, key questions and concepts of dynamic assessment and how they apply to CAP.
- The tripartite learning partnership model – the learner, the mediator and the task.
- The different models of cognitive processes and the CAP toolkit’s contents.
- The seven functional domains of cognitive abilities.
- The creation of a CAP summary and evaluation of how CAP interpretation leads to intervention targets.
- An examination of CAP’s review cycle.

Assessment

This course isn’t formally assessed. Clear staging posts over the two days will ensure that your learning and practice are embedded every step of the way.

Professional benefits

- Understand the theoretical basis and goals of CAP.
- Get to grips with the contents of CAP.
- Utilise the CAP record forms and manual effectively.
- Use CAP to plan interventions and review progress.

School benefits

- Bring expertise in-school & save money.
- Bring the unique benefits of dynamic assessment and cognitive education into your setting.
- Use CAP for systematic consultation and observation to can mitigate the need for individual direct work with a particular student.

Eligibility

The course is open to and highly relevant to professionals who do not work in one of these professions or outside of education, health and care. The course is designed for anyone involved in the comprehensive use of CAP, who needs a greater understanding of the processes of dynamic assessment. The course is not suitable for those who have completed CCET or a similar course.

Eligibility

The course is open to and highly relevant to professionals who do not work in one of these professions or international education setting – the learner, the mediator and the task.
- The different models of cognitive processes and the CAP toolkit’s contents.
- The seven functional domains of cognitive abilities.
- The creation of a CAP summary and evaluation of how CAP interpretation leads to intervention targets.
- An examination of CAP’s review cycle.

Dyslexia Action Training and Professional Development

A leading provider of specialist training courses in the field of dyslexia and specific learning difficulties for teaching and education support professionals.

Dyslexia Action Training and Professional Development has been delivering programmes in dyslexia/SpLD for over 40 years and has an established professional partnership with The Dyslexia Guild, the professional membership organisation for specialist teachers and assessors. Our professional and CPD courses are designed and delivered to support professionals working with individuals with dyslexia and specific learning difficulties. The courses are available at levels 4, 5 and 7 and are designed to strengthen the expertise and confidence of teachers, teaching assistants, SENCOs, instructors, tutors, lecturers and learning support staff.

Professional Programme

If you are hoping to become a leading qualified specialist in dyslexia and SpLD, then Dyslexia Action offers a range of specialist qualifications on the Professional Programme to help you reach your goal. As well as membership of The Dyslexia Guild, some of the level 7 qualifications are also accredited by the British Dyslexia Association (BDA), providing you with eligibility for Approved Teacher Status (ATS) or Approved Practitioner Status (APS) and AMBDA. These are equivalent to The Dyslexia Guild membership grades available. There is also the opportunity to gain an Assessment Practising Certificate (APC) with SASS accreditation. Qualify as a Specialist Teacher/Practitioner, a Specialist Teacher Assessor or simply study with us to gain a higher level of understanding and enhance your skills to support those with dyslexia or SpLD in your setting.

Complete all six modules on the Professional Programme plus the Enquiry module with Real Training to gain the prestigious Master of Education (MEd) Professional Practice in Dyslexia and Literacy.

See pages 66 and 67 for more information on the Professional Programme.

Continuing Professional Development (CPD) Programme

Through a range of level 4 and 5 CPD units, education support professionals can hone their skills and knowledge in order to be better prepared to face the challenges of supporting students with dyslexia and SpLD in today’s education system. Many of the units focus on how to nurture the development of school learners with dyslexia with regard to key skills, such as reading, writing, spelling and numeracy. Other modules focus on supporting adults with dyslexia and learners in an international setting. The courses are practice-led so you will be making a difference in your setting straight away. You will learn how to review the effectiveness and appropriateness of support methods and their results. As well as practical skills, you will also gain theoretical and technological knowledge and understanding of a subject, allowing you to determine the most effective support required for challenges in the future.

See pages 68 and 69 for more information on the CPD programme.

“I now feel much more equipped and enabled to support my students with the development of their study skills to enable independence and metacognition.”

Megan Bradburn, Supporting Study Skills in Adults with Dyslexia delegate 2018

Test Loan Scheme

Course participants are not always able to purchase some assessment tests directly from test publishers until they have successfully completed their chosen course. Dyslexia Action, in partnership with the Dyslexia Action Shop, is able to offer a scheme whereby assessment tests required for modules D and E on the Professional Programme are made available to course participants on a ‘loan and retain once qualified’ basis. Course participants should note that such tests may only be used for course purposes until such time as the person borrowing the test is fully qualified to use the test. For further details on the loan scheme, please contact the Dyslexia Action Shop team on +44 (0)1784 222339 or shop@dyslexiaaction.org.uk

The Dyslexia Guild

The Professional Association for Specialist Teachers and Assessors

Who is eligible?

The Dyslexia Guild is open to all those with a professional or general interest in dyslexia. Professional members hold designatory letters and include primary and secondary teachers, SENCOs and teaching assistants as well as Further and Higher Education support tutors and advisory specialists. Our network is also highly relevant to dyslexia and specific learning disability assessors, librarians and other specialists through Affiliate membership.

Applying for an Assessment Practising Certificate

An Assessment Practising Certificate (APC) is a recognised standard for those carrying out assessments in schools for Exam Access Arrangements and in colleges for the Disabled Students’ Allowance (DSA). The APC provides approved recognition that the holder has the experience and competence to undertake comprehensive assessments and reports for dyslexia/SpLD to the SASC standard. Once you have completed an approved training route (see page 61), you can apply for or renew your APC through The Dyslexia Guild.

Celebrating 25 years of The Dyslexia Guild

The Dyslexia Institute Guild was established in the Spring of 1994 to specialise in the development of individuals involved in the field of dyslexia. Now, in its 25th year, The Dyslexia Guild works with and supports over 1440 members from 27 countries worldwide.

Not only has the number of members grown over the years, but so has the membership benefits - from access to key books and journals to networking events and forums, plus discounts at the Dyslexia Action Shop. See page 73 for details and call The Dyslexia Guild team on +44 (0)1784 222 342 for more information.

In fact, we have a double celebration this year as the Dyslexia Review, the journal of The Dyslexia Guild, is 50 years old in 2019. This biannual publication continues to provide members and other subscribers with important research and updates from the world of dyslexia and SpLD.
Membership grades

Affiliate Members are working or studying in a relevant educational setting and are gaining suitable experience in the field of dyslexia/SpLD. They do not have Guild designatory letters after their name. This grade is not suitable for Non-Medical Helpers (NMH members), see Associate FE/HE.

Associate Members (ADG) are professional members and specialist teachers with a level 5 or level 7 specialist teaching qualification in dyslexia/SpLD.

Associate Members (ADG FE/HE) are professional members and support tutors in further and higher education. They have gained membership through Accreditation of Prior Experience and Learning (APEL) and hold qualifications relevant to student support for (NMH) Band 4 Study skills.

Fellows (FDG) are professional members and specialist teacher assessors with a level 7 specialist teacher/assessor qualification in dyslexia/SpLD. They hold a minimum of 7 years specialist teaching and 4 years specialist assessment experience in dyslexia/SpLD.

If you are unsure if your qualifications are eligible please email copies of your degree/relevant SpLD certificates, current curriculum vitae and a covering note to: guild@dyslexiaaction.org.uk

Membership benefits

Designatory Letters

Post nominal letters (ADG, ADG FE/HE or MDG) are available to registered members who are specialist teachers, student support tutors or specialist teacher assessors. Fellowship (FDG) is also available to qualified, experienced professionals.

Member Website and Forums

The Guild members’ website provides a wealth of information, including an online platform where you can message other members and experts about topics of interest. The forums include subject-specific threads about assessment and the Assessment Practising Certificate (APC) as well as Exam Access Arrangements.

Library membership

The Guild provides its members with a broad range of information relating to Dyslexia and SpLDs through its online library, a platform that produces focused search results. The National Dyslexia Resource Centre holds hardcopy resources, archives for the Association and also provides a unique e-Resources Collection, covering the fields of Dyslexia and other co-occurring difficulties, through its special collection of e-books. The library holds key books and journals from internationally recognised publishers in the field of Dyslexia and related areas, all accessible by members 24 hours a day.

Annual Summer Conference

The Dyslexia Guild annual summer conference is held every year towards the end of June and is a vibrant networking event for members and non-members. The conference explores current and topical areas relating to the field of Dyslexia and SpLD and provides an exhibition of specialist suppliers. Preferential rates available for Guild members.

Discounts at Dyslexia Action Shop

Dyslexia Action Training offers a range of online training courses and events suitable for Guild members on current practice and research, some available to Dyslexia Guild members at a reduced rate. Receive 10% off non-sale items at the Dyslexia Action Shop, including psychological assessment tests and a wide range of supporting materials.

Dyslexia Review

This is the journal of the Dyslexia Guild and is published twice a year for members and other subscribers. The Review provides topical articles and academic features on recent research and areas of interest to those working with learners with dyslexia and specific learning difficulties. The journal is free to members and is available on a subscription basis to schools and other interested readers. Dyslexia Review back issues and other related media are available electronically to all members.

Members’ Directory

The Members’ Directory is a list of those who have membership at Associate FE/HE, Associate, Member or Fellow levels. A great place to advertise your contact details to those seeking tuition or assessment or study skills support.

Guild Gallery

This is an electronic newsletter with topical information on research, courses, publications, continuing professional development and events and is sent to readers on a bi-monthly basis.

Assessment Practising Certificate

The Dyslexia Action Shop

Access the most popular psychological assessment tests and supporting materials from the one-stop Dyslexia Action Shop

What's available?
Having been established for over 20 years, we have experience and expert understanding of the assessments and support materials used in today's education institutions. All the products in our online shop have been carefully selected to ensure we can offer the widest range of essential resources for educators.

International shipping
Don't worry if you are based outside the UK, as we are well-equipped to cater for your needs and send you the materials you need by air freight within 3-5 days. This is one of the reasons we already have customers in over 30 countries, from the UAE to Australia and more.

Discounts available
Real Training course delegates benefit from 10% discount* at the Dyslexia Action Shop for the duration of their course and for six months after course completion. Members of The Dyslexia Guild also benefit from the same 10% discount.

Test Loan Agreement Scheme
We understand that not all delegates studying on Dyslexia Action training courses have access to tests in their setting and may need to purchase assessments to enable them to complete the course. In addition, some delegates are unable to access a higher level of test until they are suitably qualified. The Dyslexia Action Shop supports Dyslexia Action's delegates through a test loan scheme. In agreement with the test publishers we are able to allow access to some of the higher level assessments during your training on the Professional Programme courses. As long as you complete the course you will be able to keep the assessment to begin to develop a library of suitable assessments.

Download the order form online or contact us with your queries about the loan scheme: Email: shop@dyslexiaaction.org.uk Tel. +44 (0)1784 222339

Real Group consultancy and professional services

More than just a training provider

With an uniquely diverse array of academic, professional, technical and commercial expertise, Real Group has not only delivered world-class training directly to educators across the globe, but it has also worked closely with schools and other partners to offer support, professional services and guidance. As an organisation founded, owned and run by educators, we’re passionate about the power of collaboration to make transformational change.

Supporting the sector, sharing knowledge

Alongside expert training and support, we know one of the biggest challenges for educators and those working within the field is having access to the information and insight they need about what is happening - and could happen - in our profession. With that in mind, we’ve created resources available to professionals in the UK and beyond. Aside from our informative social media channels, blogs and articles hosted elsewhere, Real Group deliver two main information resources:

- TSP Briefing
  The TSP Briefing, formerly The SEND Practitioner, is Real Group’s free subscriber resource, with the latest articles, news, views and opinion pieces from the most prominent and sometimes challenging voices in inclusive education and leadership.

- Dyslexia Guild Review
  Created and curated by the experts at the Dyslexia Guild, The Review is a topical journal that features academic articles, cutting-edge research, updates, book and assessment test reviews.

Recent projects

Real Group has worked on a vast number of projects over the years, too great in scope and number to detail, but here are a few which demonstrate some of the breadth of our expertise and experience across the group.

Training materials for teachers of learners with severe, profound and complex learning difficulties - Real E-learning

Real Group worked with the Schools Network to produce training materials for the Teaching Agency (Department for Education). This project presented an opportunity to bring together expertise of teachers, academics and other professionals; and to work with a Government Agency and a charity to help transform teaching of children with complex needs.

We delivered flexible online training resources that would reach out to a core audience of teachers but could also be used by other school staff as well as parents and professionals. The project brought together a wide range of professionals; content and practice experts, editorial and instructional design, visual design and technology.

Children, parents and teachers collaborated with the team and made a crucial and unique contribution to the project.

The final product consisted of 16 modules, 4 levels per module, 610 training resource packages, 3989 slides, 500 video clips, 686 downloadable resources and 672 links to resources on the web.

Delivering psychology services in-school and beyond - Real Psychology

Working across London, Kent and further afield, our psychologists work with individual children, young people or adults, in a home, school or agency setting. Collaboration and consultation is at the heart of our approach, and we will work with you to develop flexible and creative strategies to promote learning, positive change in behaviour and thinking at individual, group or systemic levels. We apply psychology to support children and young people with all types of special and additional need including learning and cognitive development, social, emotional and behavioural needs, identified needs such as Autism and children with a range of speech and language, visual, sensory and other impairments, as well as children with any type of physical disability.

Creating a framework of SEND excellence overseas - Real Training

Whilst Real Group is one of the UK’s leading education and training experts, we believe that it is our duty to support the development of an holistic education environment across the globe. Alongside the many overseas delegates who have studied with us, and the face to face courses we’ve delivered in Barbados, Singapore, Dubai and beyond, we’ve also been key partners in many other projects including:

- Providing advice and consultation to a group in the Middle East, to create a special school for children with severe, profound and complex learning difficulties and disabilities
- Supporting the structure and delivery of an EU-funded adult education project in Athens and Barcelona
- Working with an organisation in Denmark to create groundbreaking solution in assistive reading technology
- Delivering our CCET course, on behalf of the Northern Ireland Education Department, to more than 500 teachers across the province

Next steps with Real Training...

Have we missed something?

If you have unanswered questions about one of our courses or programmes or the application process, please contact us on +44 (0)1273 358080 or email info@realgroup.co.uk.

Once you are ready to book, follow these five simple steps:

1. Go to realtraining.co.uk and click on the red ‘Make a booking’ button at the top.

2. Complete and submit the simple 2-page booking form. Please note that no payment will be taken at the time of booking.

3. Your booking will be processed and you will be emailed an application pack. This could include further forms and a request for you to send copies of your qualification certificates, depending on your chosen Real Training course. At around the same time, an invoice will be sent to the nominated invoice contact on your original booking form.

4. Send us your completed forms and copies of certificates. Once these are with us and an initial payment has been made, you are ready to start the course.

5. On the official course start date you will be sent your login details to Campus Online so that you can make a start on your chosen course and study at your own pace.

“Excellence is an art won by training and habituation. We are what we repeatedly do. Excellence, then, is not an act but a habit.”
